Demonstrates Making and using Skew Chisel

Mark St. Leger

Guest Demonstrator on Saturday, March 10, 2007

Known for his sense of humor and ability to effectively teach a variety of age groups and skill levels, Mark's teaching techniques are easily followed and incorporate much skill building. His enthusiasm for woodturning has offered him the opportunity to meet a variety of individuals who share his interests in woodturning. Exchanging ideas with woodturners and clubs throughout the world, gives him the opportunity to contribute to the continual process of growth and learning in the field of Woodturning.

Mark tells us that "the demo will consist of a series of projects that will range from beginner to advanced skill level. We will start with a couple of skill building projects for beginners. Also, this year marks my tenth year of demonstrating, so to recognize that I will be bringing back one of my first demo projects the "Fly House". Followed by two boxes, a Sphere Box with hand chased threads and a Rock-A-Bye-Box turned on the bias."

Mark has been working with wood since he was a young boy, helping his father who is a cabinetmaker/turner. He took woodshop for a year in high school where he first turned on a lathe, and still remembers his teacher's name: Mr. Snyder. After high school Mark served a four-year apprenticeship and became a Journeyman Carpenter. Through the years his interests moved towards the finer aspects of building which enabled him to become an accomplished Cabinetmaker as well.

"Survey Says..."

But this isn't "Family Feud", and I'm not Richard Dawson. It's the Chicago Woodturners, and the survey is about what you, the CWT member, want your club to be. This collection of responses, while in no way a scientific endeavor, will help your Board determine what programs to emphasize, and which ones to move back in terms of interest.

The survey was offered at the last three meetings, and we had seventy two responses. This constitutes a good cross section of the members who regularly attend the monthly meetings. Thanks to all of you for your time and input. Your responses to the questions will be kept confidential, and it appears that you were honest in your responses. You sure are a conservative bunch, though. In assessing your own turning experience, the two middle categories (Apprentice and Journeyman) received 73% of the votes, with only two "beginners" and three "pros". That does seem accurate, but I was expecting the 5th category, "Master, still learning, but fairly confident", to have a higher number, based on the quality of work I have seen you produce. Maybe we're all perpetual students.

In the area of meeting events, the monthly demos and the gallery review were consistently ranked as the major reasons to be a member of the CWT. Again, not unexpected, and we'll continue to make these events the main focus of our meetings. Only one of you was honest enough to give the business part of the meeting a "one". Like I said, you're a conservative bunch. You do have a sense of humor, though. When asked about your work and occupation, one fellow, who I know to have been a high-ranking sort of executive type (although he won't talk about it, he may have been with the government), responded: "Nuttin' Honey". Work experience runs the gamut from IT and software engineers through mechanical and chemical engineers, mechanics and electricians, sales and everything in between. Most of the trades are represented, as well. It's truly a broad cross section of America.

The survey is being reprinted in this issue of "As the Wood Turns", so if you missed your chance to express your opinion, you can fill out a survey and drop it in the mail or bring it to the February meeting. You can also fax it to: 847-412-9784. Your opinions count, so take a moment to have your voice heard. Your Board will use your input to work towards making your club more informative, more entertaining and more fulfilling.

Until February, turn lots, keep applying for those jobs described as "Nuttin' Honey", and please turn safely.

Paul Shotola

Hands-on class fees, deposits and refund policy:

- A $50.00 deposit is required to secure your place in a hands-on class.
- Deposits are refundable if a student cancels more than 30 days prior to the class date.
- Deposits are not refundable after the 30 day lead time unless a replacement student takes the class.
- If there is a waiting list, the class will be offered to those on the waiting list first.
- If there is no waiting list, it is the responsibility of the canceling student to find a replacement.
- The deposit will be refunded to the canceling student when a deposit is received from the new student.

After working years in the field of building, Mark was approached and asked if he would consider teaching woodworking to high school students. Sixteen years later he continues to teach at a rural high school and loves it. Thru the years, along with some very caring contributors, Mark and his students have built up a virtually empty shop into a fine woodworking facility. It is set up for a full range of carpentry & cabinetry along with woodturning and carving.

As an Honorary Lifetime Member of the Blue Ridge Woodturners Club in Virginia, Mark has served as vice-president, president & activities coordinator along with hosting their club meetings at the high school shop on a monthly basis. He is also a member of the American Association of Woodturners where he has served as a member of the board of directors. Several years ago the AAW produced a "Skill Building Projects" video featuring some of Mark's teaching techniques.

Mark has been an active demonstrator and workshop leader for turning clubs, along with demonstrating at many regional and national symposiums. He is currently on the faculty list of Arrowmont School of the Arts in Tennessee, Appalachian Center for Craft, and the John C. Campbell Folk School in North Carolina. Mark also finds satisfaction in teaching woodturning courses for a local college.

This demonstration is on Sunday, March 11, 2007 at Woodcraft. Admission is $25.00. Doors open at 9:00 am. No reservations are required. This is an opportunity to see a master woodturner and teacher in his element. Turners of all skill levels and experience will come away with new ideas and techniques.

Minutes of the Chicago Woodturners Club Meeting on January 9, 2007

President Paul Shotola opened the meeting at 7:00 pm. Safety notes and schedules were displayed on the screen.

Membership: Currently we have 207 members. 4 additional new members joined at this meeting.

Collaborative Challenge for 2007: Jon Keith and Dick Stone presented some of the selections and there were comments from the membership about what was done before. A vote was taken and Carousel was selected for CWT's entry.

Past Presidents Challenge: Salt and Pepper. Only one entry was submitted so it won the $30 first prize. Easy money! Where were the challengers?

The raffle this week included Walnut log, Small turning tool set, grinding wheel and a Jack Vessery demo piece (two month drawing).

The gallery was reviewed by Darrell Rader.

The demonstration was by Dan Anderson. Dan covered all the aspects of turning Lidded Boxes. The most important asset is time to season the blanks. Nicely done and very informative.

Respectfully submitted,

Paul Cavanagh

Raffle News

At the February meeting we will draw the two winning tickets for the Jacques Vesery demo pieces. These were turned, carved, and colored at Jacques' demonstration in February of 2006. These are great pieces and a nice addition to your collection.

Also, thanks to our friends at Rockler Woodworking, we will have a great tool bag on the raffle table. Visit www.rockler.com for your woodworking and hardware needs. Don't forget, Rockler offers a 10% discount to CWT members.

There will also be a selection of pen kits from Steebar Turning Solutions. You may know Steebar as a supplier of clock making kits and supplies, but they have a nice selection of pen kits, tools, and scroll saw supplies and plans, also. Visit www.steebar.com for their full line.

Remember, support of the raffle is support of the Chicago Woodturners.

Thanks to Jacques Vesery, Rockler and Steebar.
